Packing Instructions (provide a label to me)

Contents must be placed in only new, unmarked boxes. You may purchase suitable boxes at office supply stores and shipping service stores.

There should be nothing on the box about "hazardous materials", "dangerous contents", "valuable contents" or anything hinting at precious metals.

If asked about the contents by the shipping location, you must specify that the merchandise is non-hazardous materials.

If dropping off at a FedEx location, request that FedEx scan each box and provide a drop-off receipt for each. Keep the receipts until your purchase order is finalized and paid. This receipt will be required should a claim be needed.

1. SECURE PRODUCTS AND A COPY OF YOUR ORDER CONFIRMATION IN A SMALLER, INNER BOX.

Use additional packaging material such as padded envelopes, bubble wrap, paper or foam pad to restrict movement of the merchandise inside. If the merchandise is loose in the box, it makes it riskier for theft.

2. AFFIX "INNER BOX LABEL" ON THE OUTSIDE OF THIS INNER BOX.

This is needed in case the outer box gets damaged in transit.

3. DOUBLE BOX YOUR SHIPMENT

Place the inner box inside a larger, unused box. Ensure that the outer box is a tight fit with padding as needed. Seal ALL seams and flaps around the outer box.

4. APPLY THE FEDEX SHIPPING LABEL ON THE OUTSIDE OF THE BOX.

Use clear tape to secure the shipping label to the outer box. Do not write anything on the label or box. This is to ensure the anonymity of your shipment.

Use JM Bullion FedEx Label and Insurance (Recommended)

Our provided FedEx Labels offer competitive rates and are fully-insured.

Parcels either picked up by FedEx or delivered to a FedEx Ship Center have insurance coverage for loss up to $62,500 should a claim arise.

Do not drop off at Office Depot or OfficeMax as these locations are not insured.

Make sure that you hand your sealed package(s) to the FedEx representative and that they scan your package(s) and give you a receipt. Keep this receipt as it is required should a claim arise.

Packages may not exceed 70lbs.
